

WHAT IS CASPAR?

It is an AI-enabled system that extracts, sorts, and assesses articles of interest that contain claims about target products and ingredients.

Language models trained by physicians and specialists/scientists with experience authoring over 4,000 technical justification documents in the last 10 years

End-to-end management of the claims substantiation that reduces the justification report development time by 98%

PERFORMANCE ANALYSIS

WITHOUT CASPAR

Wide search: For example, >279k articles for collagen takes 1 year to screen manually

Inefficient filters in public domains

Ambiguous terminology

Time-consuming full-text reviews

WITH CASPAR

1 week of screening

Intelligent article recognition and filtering based on context, relevance, and active ingredients

Manual control over Ingredient names and synonyms

Precise extraction of key relevant information from the full-text articles in minutes
